BUSINESS CONCLAVE

INFINX, the Finance Association of XIM University, Bhubaneswar (New Campus), strives to ease the journey of the students through the finance subjects by designing assignments, tutorials, knowledge sharing sessions, and conducting various events. The flagship event, Privitti – The Annual Business Conclave, wherein stalwarts from the industry are welcomed to guide and enlighten the students about the financial scenario in and around the world.

Team InfinX hosted Privitti'21 with stellar success on 9th October 2021. The theme for the same was "Interaction of Market and Economy". The event was graced by esteemed panel of speakers, notably Mr Biswa Ketan Das (Chief Executive Officer, IIBF), Mr. Nikhil Nath (RFP Team Leader, Fidelity International), Hanuman Joshi (Head of Mergers & Acquisitions, Embassy Group), Bhavik Thakkar (Chief Executive Officer, Abans Investment Managers).

Some of the key insights from the event were about the market functions, the four major factors that contribute to the overall trade of the economy that include fiscal policy by the government of India, monetary policy (permutated by RBI), and the international capital flow to India. The market is inter-connected and this affects the Indian economy. The issue and sales of the bonds are one of the major indicators where the economy recesses, which is done when the investment is picking up due to high demand and spare capacity which include expansion of greenfield or brownfield projects. The capital markets and loan markets are connected because of the action by RBI and their monetary policy. The liquidity in the market has turned up substantially and is close to 900 lakh crore resulting in the suppression of the bond crisis. The liquidity has affected the equity market which has crossed the milestone of sixty thousand in one year resulting in the improvement of their efficiency and basic parameters.

The event concluded after a question and answer session. Some of the questions were:

- ▶ How do the assets available today have an attractive valuation during or post COVID-19 as there was no construction taking place so how the companies attracted a good valuation?
- ▶ Can companies like Special Purpose Acquisition Companies (SPAC), which raise capital and acquire other companies, exist under the private equity sector?
- ▶ The real estate market is dominated by a few major names who control everything from demand and supply to pricing - can this change anytime shortly?
- ▶ Fiscal consolidation is one of the objectives of India's economic policy. So according to the panelists, which is the most effective way to achieve it?

All the questions were addressed by the panelists in the most proficient way and the audience was convinced with the insights of the speakers. The School of Commerce was humbled to be graced by such leading personalities and their views on current problems, opportunities and growth of markets and the economy.

ANNUAL CAMPUS HIRING 2023

Pre Placement Talks (PPTs)

PPTs give a platform for interaction between students and businesses, enabling both to identify the greatest match for their needs and objectives. You can ask the Placement Office about the PPTs' dates. Any business that takes the time to get to know our kids better and offers the chance for our students to do the same is valued by us.

Curriculum Vitae

For each student applying to a different company, the Institute uses a uniform structure. The format of the Institute or any other particular format, in hard or digital copies, may be requested by a corporation.

Pre Placement Offers (PPOs)

After the summer internship, a pre-placement offer, or PPO, is a highly coveted employment offer before final placements. The organisation and the student have the chance to evaluate their compatibility with one another after an exposure period of eight weeks. Before the start of Placement Week, the businesses might inform the Institute of their choice to offer PPOs. If the business does not have internal guidelines guiding this procedure, the students' choice will be shared with the business either after Placement Week has ended or at the designated time during Placement Week.

Job Offers

A job offer is only regarded as legitimate if the placement office receives formal confirmation of it. No verbal or telephone conversation will be taken into consideration as a job offer. Only at the specified days and times will the candidates' final bids be made public. If this is delayed or not done, the candidate may be hired by another business. Within 20 days of the job offer being made on campus, appointment letters for the chosen candidate should be forwarded (in triplicate) to the placement office. By signing their acceptance, the candidate confirms they have received the employment offer, and the concerned employer will be notified right away.
